Tear gas fired into Oakland protesters, police tell of 2 wounded in clash - petethomas ===== larrymcp "I think it's fair to say we are concerned about the safety of the protesters," said Oakland Police Chief Howard Jordan. "We do not want them injured." What a wonderfully enlightened approach. The protesters need to be protected from the police. No one here disagrees with that. The present invention relates to a method and apparatus for analyzing gases for the presence of toxic gases. More particularly, the present invention relates to a system and method for analyzing gases, such as air, for the presence of a wide range of toxic gases and to an apparatus which allows for the simultaneous and continuous monitoring of gases. Various devices have been developed to monitor air for toxic gases. Several devices and systems have been developed which detect only a small number of toxic gases. One such system has been developed by ASHTON which is described in U.S. Pat. No. 4,635,442. The ASHTON system is a passive gas chromatographic detector which analyzes a small sample of air which is in contact with a detector surface for the presence of toxic gases. While the ASHTON system is effective at detecting a limited number of toxic gases, it is an integral system and thus cannot continuously monitor large volumes of air for the presence of toxic gases. Another system which has been developed to continuously monitor gases for the presence of toxic gases is the SCANFORMS system, which is manufactured by FILMTRAC, INC. The SCANFORMS system is described in detail in U.S. Pat. Nos. 4,939,943 and 5,066,482. The SCANFORMS system utilizes a combination of an ultraviolet lamp and a photo-multiplier to detect volatile organic compounds (VOCs). The SCANFORMS system detects the gases after absorption of the VOCs into the filter paper. In this regard, the SCANFORMS system suffers from several disadvantages including the inability to detect inorganic gases, such as CO 82157476af
